SUMMER REFLECTIONS

Looking back on the good images of our unusual warm and beautiful summer is one of life's pleasures when the days grow shorter. We all have our own personal joys to savor. Here are a few that we shared this summer as they made the harbor waters lively and colorful.

One of our most unusual visitors was the 90 foot yacht "Whitefin", and Frank Small of St. Lucie, Florida showed our issue of the Presto, featuring a cover of the "Whitefin", to a friend, who gave him a clipping of a story from the Detroit Free Press of

SHENANDOAH
D.C.J. Photos

THERE ARE MANY WONDERFUL MOMENTS IN THE MEMORY BANK TO SAVOR IN THE MONTHS AHEAD, FROM THE BRIGHT SAILS OF THE HOBIES TO THE TALL MASTS OF THE WHITEFIN AND THE SHENANDOAH IN PHOTO ABOVE. THE SHENANDOAH IS ALWAYS A WELCOME SIGHT AS SHE APPEARS UNANNOUNCED AND DROPS ANCHOR FOR THE NIGHT. THIS HARBOR WAS THE ORIGIN OF MANY SHIPS WHOSE TALL MASTS RAKED THE SKYLINE - IT IS ALWAYS A RENEWED THRILL TO REALIZE THAT THE SAME BEAUTY STILL DRIVES SHIPS TO SEA.

another similar beauty, the "Ondine VI", built in Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin at a cost of 3 million dollars. The "Ondine VI", strangely enough, was built for a man with the same last name as the the "Whitefin". Sumner Long is the owner of the Ondine VI which is 105 feet in length with a 117 foot mast.

The Ondine VI is definitely not a racing yacht having some most unusual features such as a circular staircase to the crew's quarters and a jacuzzi. It sailed with a crew of captain, engineer, two mates, a cook and a stewardess - a total of six people. This small crew is made possible by use of some unusual technology. To furl sail the captain presses a button and the mainsail is electrically rolled into the mast (like a verticle windowshade) and the other sails are controlled similarly.

The builder, Palmer-Johnson, describe the interior as looking like a New York apartment with an interior decorated in French fabrics by a New York designer. The main salon is trimmed in sycamore, bleached white, with green leather couches. The carpeting is white and grey. The galley features such appliances as deep freeze, dishwasher and compactor.

The boat has a centerboard to vary the draft from 9 to 19 feet which is very handy in the Detroit lake area. The mast was designed longer but shortened to 117 feet to allow passage through the Welland Canal where the maximum height is 116½ feet. The yacht has to be heeled to make up the difference.

According to the story by Wylie Gerdes, the Ondine VI should be at Newport now as a floating hotel at the America's cup races. This one should be a standout among that great mass of beautiful boats. It will shortly spend considerable time in the Mediterranean in the vicinity of Sardinia, where the Aga Khan has yachting headquarters.

and the Board of Health.

Selectmen chairman John DeCosta noted the state is discouraging the continuation of sanitary landfills, so we have to take another look at the SEMASS-waste to energy facility proposed to be constructed in Rochester.

George Tobey, project director, explained this is his second presentation to the board - his first was made a year ago. The new board members wished to see the presentation, especially in light of the state's new stand on landfills.

The new draft agreement offered to the board gives the town a preferential price and revenue rebate provisions for those communities expecting to execute a contract at an early date. One part sets a fixed acceptance fee of $12.00 per ton of waste for the term of the 27 year contract; the second, a preference rebate payment provision whenever power revenues exceed eight cents per kilowat hour. The $12.00 per ton disposal fee would be offset by future refunds as the waste plant becomes able to sell electricity at higher prices.

A film depicting a successful plant in operation in Albany, New York was shown, followed by the project director's report on progress of the proposed plant. Tobey explained SEMASS has obtained the necessary local permits, state and environmental permits, and federal air quality permits. He added that a contract has been signed to sell all we produce to Com Electric for the 27-year term.

Also, Tobey noted SEMASS has negotiated with Bay Colony Railroad to haul waste to the plant as cheaply as possible on a long term contract.

New to date, said Tobey, is a commitment from B.E. and C. (the engineering division of Boeing Aircraft Corp.) as the general contractors for Energy Answers Corp. Boeing will guarantee construction and performance according to Energy Answers design of the waste to energy facility.

Tobey emphasized SEMASS needs a commitment of waste from towns. At the present time Carver, Marion, Wareham and Rochester have been signed up, Tobey said. He estimated the facility would need 1000 tons per day on a long-term contract (27 years) and 500 tons on short-term contracts. The short-term contracts would allow the plants to absorb the growth of the towns on long-term contracts.

In conclusion, Tobey explained that if the town gave the "go-ahead" now it would take 2½ years for construction (1987) followed by four to five months before the town would have to expend any funds.

Selectman James Huntoon asked, "If Mattapoisett voted at a town meeting to sign a contract, it wouldn't cost the town anything nor change its sanitary landfill until the middle of 1987?"

The project director agreed with Huntoon as he added, "Mattapoisett's landfill has a long life". Huntoon responded saying, "Yes, but we are concerned with the after life of the landfill."

Selectman Frank Suzan asked what about minimum and maximum costs? Tobey said the amount of refuse will fluctuate daily but that no penalty would be imposed on it unless it fell below the minimum over a year's period of time.

ACCEPTED STAINED GLASS WINDOWS

"Real craftsmanship" was the term used by Chairman John DeCosta as Selectmen accepted two stained glass windows from Tony Pelson.

One was of Ned's Point Lighthouse, with a sailboat in the background. The second was the whaler, "Wanderer". Tony's wife, Phyllis, commented, "although the ship's hull was usually depicted in a dark color, Win Jenney assured Tony all whalers were painted white on a maiden voyage. This Tony said the "Wanderer" window took 110 pieces of glass and one and one half pounds of lead to complete. Lexicon glass will be used to cover the window to prevent breakage. These two will be placed in windows facing Church Street. A third one, of the Indian Chief Massasoit, is gracing the front of Town Hall.

fice (telephone 758-3758) in the Town Hall. Except for special trips when a cut-off date is given, reservations can be made up to a week before a trip date. You may call Monday through Friday between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 12:00 noon.

In line with our attempt to give you a variety of trips and also to encourage those of you who seldom go on our trips, we have scheduled a trip to Norton Bird Gardens, a relatively new attraction. Established in 1980 by a group of experienced aviculturists, Norton Bird Gardens is set in a 7 acre site adjacent to the Great Woods of Norton, Mass. Here a natural habitat has been tastefully landscaped to provide protection and suitable shelter for birds from many continents. On display are more than 150 varieties of birds, the largest collection in New England. Some roam free along the paths, others are in pens or aviaries set among the trees, caged for protection. The variety of birds is exceptional: golden eagles, rare east of the Mississippi, were hatched at the Roger Williams Zoo, brown pelicans, South African crowned crane showing off his elegant headdress, Chilean flamingoes, two neni geese from Hawaii, red-breasted Siberian goose, blue and gold macaw, exotic pheasants from the Himalayas are just a few of the many attractions. Do not hesitate to make reservations. If necessary, we can always make a later trip.

The Association, sponsored by the Mattapoisett Housing Authority, plans a monthly newsletter containing information on community activities and services, in-house events and procedures, and facts of interest to the residents who are mainly retired but active. Classes will be formed for crafts, exercises and other special interests. Several nights a week have already been scheduled for Bingo and Pokino.

In July the Mattapoisett Housing Authority was awarded $250. by Governor Dukakis for beautification of the grounds. The tenants have a committee to carry out the purpose of this special fund.

In October the tenants and MHA will participate in Energy Awareness Week in conjunction with Governor Dukakis and the Executive Office of Energy Resources as Village Court is a prototype of passive solar for multi-family housing. Further information on an Open House will be released at a later date.

The tenants' association forecasts a busy year for all residents who wish to participate, with some of the activities community oriented such as the October Open House.

and technical schools increases dramatically. Student aid usually covers only a portion of an individual's need. Summer jobs are limited and the income from a summer job makes a small dent in school expenses. One of the most valuable sources of financial aid is local scholarships. With this in mind a volunteer group of residents from Marion, Mattapoisett, and Rochester organized last January and established the MMR Tri-Town Dollars for Scholars Program.

Through the support of the three towns MMR was able to award twenty-nine scholarships totaling $15,100 to seniors graduating from Tabor Academy, Old Colony, Bishop Stang, and Old Rochester Regional. Any student residing in the tri-town area is eligible to apply for a scholarship regardless of the high school he or she attends.

MMR hopes to be able to award even more scholarships in the spring of 1984. The support of the community is the cornerstone of the Dollars for Scholars Program. The Board of Trustees has exciting new ventures planned for this year. With the enthusiasm of the Board and the community the MMR Tri-Town Dollars for Scholars Program can be even more successful than it was in its first year. Remember --- "It's Up To You!"

The Board of Trustees will hold its next meeting on Monday, October 3rd, in the Old Rochester Regional High School Library at 7:30 p.m.

The first meeting of the Fine Arts Group of the Mattapoisett Woman's Club will be Monday, October 3rd, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Susan Smith. Everyone is welcome; please call (9314) if you plan to attend.

The first meeting will be devoted to an overview of the material and discussion of the "Ashcan School", the painters who went to the slums of New York to find their subject matter.

A sales representative from the Jack Daniel Distillery will be the guest speaker and will have samples of his product at the meeting this Wednesday, September 28th, of the Mattapoisett Lions' Club.

Where was or is Minister's Island? That question has been asked since the Salt Industry was discussed in these notes a while back and Minister's Island was mentioned as a location of a saltwork in the early 1800's.

Francis C. Rowland has an old map of Mattapoisett and locates Minister's Island on the Neck in the area of Marshmere where the Neck Road crosses the marshes. That piece of road on the high g[redacted] "Minister's Island". [redacted] island at low tide [redacted]

John Hayes (374) found plotting Marion Golf's topography a simple task as Sturtevant and Hook walked off with all three points. Charlie Savery, Jr.'s 366 was high for the Little Marion team. Letters to the Editor

Now that our busy summer season has passed I would like to extend my gratitude and admiration to the Mattapoisett Police Department.

Several times this past summer the rescue-emergency unit was called to the Inn to administer their expert care to ailing patrons. One particular case involved someone especially dear to me--my mother. She became ill just as she was arriving and seemed to have signs of a possible stroke. In one or two minutes the Emergency Squad was administering aid. The story ends well, as it turned out it was not a stroke, but the care and concern given by the police officers involved impressed me considerably.

I think that sometimes many of us, myself included, forget what an important and responsible position these men handle, under all types of pressures and situations.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Living in Massachusetts, I realize that I may be taking an unpopular position in regard to the contemplated addition to our growing list of National Holidays. Congress is now considering an additional "no-work" holiday in honor of Martin Luther King. I wish to point out that an additional national holiday may not be in the best interest of our country, particularly at this time in our history.

In the first place, we already have nine national holidays. Statistics tell us that another would cost us two hundred twenty-four million dollars per year at the minimum -- money that we cannot afford; nor can industry or your school systems afford such a luxury. America is having a very hard time at present competing for world markets as it is. Why add this additional burden in this intensely competitive period?

Most of our Great Founding Fathers have not been honored by National Holidays in their names. Why Martin Luther King? To pick out this man for such an honor could have implications and repercussions for future generations that we can only begin to imagine. It may surprise many to know that many people, including Bl[redacted] opposed the idea of su[redacted] day from the start. A [redacted] a prominent Black thinker published some thoughts on this subject. This man is J.A. Parker, founder and leader of the Lincoln Institute for Research and Education, probably the leading Black conservative organization in this country.

Parker wrote, and I quote him --"The jury is still out as to whether King was a hero or a villain. I have not forgotten that while Americans were fighting and dying in Vietnam, King gave his full support to the North Vietnamese Communists. At that time, King called the United States 'The greatest purveyor of violence in the world!'"

Parker goes on to say, "Frankly, as a Black American who loves this country, my blood boils when I remember statements like that." And he asks the question, "Is this man really a person that we should honor with a National Holiday? No!", he answers.

It is no secret that the FBI has reams of information on King's activities -- information that by court order and government direction has been sealed for a period of fifty years. Why? We don't know what the information is, and won't for a long time.

The current move is not a legitimate attempt to honor a Black American, but a political ploy to gain Black votes. And, if King is so honored, how about all the other ethnic groups: Irish? English? Italian? Chinese? Poles?

The list goes on and on. All these groups have made substantial contributions to the nation -- and have their heroes and martyrs. Shouldn't they be honored if King is?

Leaving all of the above aside -- the bottom line is that our nation's industry and our nation's schools cannot afford another "No-work" National Holiday at this time.

Artistic Director Sally Brayley Bliss has stated "How lucky I am to have this responsibility to discover, develop and push onward these talented young people. As I teach them, they teach me." Members of the company range in age from seventeen to twenty-three and must have graduated from high school. Each dancer remains with the company from one to three years. They have their own company class and receive individual coaching from the directors each day. The company works not only on ballet technique, but modern, jazz and contemporary styles. The dancer's development is further encouraged through performance under every conceivable circumstance. They are coached in each situation to make the necessary adaptations in their makeup, method, and manner to convey the best possible image to their audience.

In the thirteen years of its existence the Company has acquired a highly respected reputation as a showcase for emerging choreographers, composers, designers, stage managers and other dance professionals. Joffrey II's eclectic repertory includes favorite classics, as well as works commissioned specifically for the Company.

"The Belle of Amherst"

The Westport Historical Society is pleased to announce "The Belle of Amherst" which is the first of many cultural events to be held at the newly renovated Bell School. The play, by William Luce, starring Lucy Bly as Miss Emily Dickinson, gives us an intimate glimpse into the life of the enigmatic 19th century Berkshire poet.

Miss Bly's previous performances of "The Belle" have elicited such comments from the media as: "She captures well the magic of the superb poetry in what is, unquestionably, the best and most demanding performance of her career", Standard-Times; and "Miss Bly's performance is like finding a rare pearl among all the run-of-the-mill performances found in both amateur and professional theater.", The Village Voice.

The play is scheduled for two performances: Friday, October 7th, and Saturday, October 8th. Doors open at 7:15 o'clock both nights; curtain time is 8:00 p.m. Tickets are $4.00 for members and $5.50 for non-members. Due to the limited seating capacity of the Bell Schoolhouse, we suggest that you reserve tickets immediately. Send a check for the number of tickets desired, with a note indicating the evening preferred. Please include a stamped, self-addressed envelope and mail to: Westport Historical Society, Inc., P.O. Box C-31, Westport, MA. 02790. If you wish to make phone reservations call the Historical Society at 636-6011 and leave a message on the answering device. Tickets reserved by phone will be held until fifteen minutes before curtain time.

We hope to see you at the Bell Schoolhouse, 25 Drift Rd., The Head of Westport.

INTERNATIONAL RUGBY SHIRTS

The winner and still champion. The Canterbury heavyweight rugby jersey. A technical knock-out blend of cotton/polyester (52/48) for strength, brightness and soil release that is colorfast with minimal shrinkage. All shirts have long sleeves with heavy cuffs, white twill collar, underarm action gussets for freedom of movement, and a rubber button to prevent bruising and breakage. Seams are safety overlock stitched with heavy thread to prevent tearing. The shirt tested under game conditions on the playing field of the world.
